

Program Educational Objectives

Our department aims to gain its graduates the following Educational Objectives.

EO1) To raise competent graduates on the basic theories, current practices and research methods of psychology.

EO2) To raise graduates who can think critically and analytically, follow current developments in the field, and have basic and professional ethical principles.

EO3) To raise graduates who can conduct academic and applied research in an interdisciplinary and intercultural context.

EO4) To raise graduates who are not prejudiced against differences, have a sense of social responsibility, and respect universal values and human rights.